

Download Anson County, North Carolina: Abstracts Of Early Records

North Carolina Census Records Online in an easy to use directory. Find free North Carolina census records, census transcriptions, census indexes, and census images along with North Carolina tax lists, city directories and other North Carolina genealogy databases available online from this site. WELCOME TO RICHMOND COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA GENEALOGY WEBSITE The difficulty of having to cross the Pee Dee River to get to Anson's county seat spurred the North Carolina Assembly to create Richmond county from Anson in 1779. The following is a list of books and other resources I have found that contain genealogical or historical information relating to the old Tryon County region of North and South Carolina. The Lumbee Tribe of North Carolina is a state-recognized tribe of obscure tribal origins numbering approximately 60,000 enrolled members, most of them living in Robeson and the adjacent counties in south-central North Carolina.