

Download Computational Aspects Of Cooperative Game Theory Edith Elkind

Artificial Intelligence. My research focuses on AI, building computer programs to do tasks that we consider intelligent. I am particularly interested in the interface between optimisation (making better decisions), social choice (taking account of agents' preferences), and game theory (despite the self-interest of agents).