'Revolutions' is available worldwide. 'Revolutions' is a full orchestra recording that features ten of Jim's compositions performed by the Metropole Orchestra conducted by Vince Mendoza. James Douglas Morrison (December 8, 1943 – July 3, 1971) was an American singer, songwriter and poet, best remembered as the lead vocalist of the rock band the Doors. "The Soft Parade" is the ninth and final track on the album of the same name by the American rock band The Doors, their fourth studio album. At the beginning of the song, Jim Morrison starts out with spoken words reminiscent of a Christian revivalist preacher. San Francisco Search Results from San Francisco Business Times
