It covers grammar, vocabulary, spelling, reading, creative writing, research, and high-order thinking skills. Additions to the new 3rd Edition include new lessons to introduce students to additional classical literature. Learning Language Arts Through Literature. Reading real books instead of basal stories makes reading more attractive to the student. This creates a deeper understanding and generates greater interest in grammar, writing mechanics, vocabulary, spelling, and other language skills. The goal of any language arts program should be to equip... Learning Language Arts Through Literature (LLATL), a comprehensive language arts curriculum, is based upon Dr. Ruth Beechick's ideas about how to best teach young children—ideas which have much in common with Charlotte Mason's.
